Wake

The first twelve leaves of this issue of Inscription are meant to be torn away. Please remove the first page by tearing it carefully along the indicated line. The image of a ship's wake is the same on each page. Each successive page you tear will reveal one additional letter of the journal's name. The remaining pages of the project are each marked with a line for readers to follow in making the artwork. Press one finger of your left hand to the top edge of the issue, just to the left of the line, then start tearing, taking care to follow the indicated course. There will be some 'feathering' as you tear, and if the torn portion of the leaf gets in the way, simply crease or roll it so as not to impede your progress. The last image of Wake on page 25 should not be torn. By tearing away successively decreasing portions of these leaves you will recuperate Inscription.
